LYNCHINGDelawareans Generally
Approve Death of White

ONE ARREST IS MADE

Believed That Other Arrests Will Follow Soon--All Quiet
Today.

Wilmington, Del., June 24.—The natural and interesting question is whether the authorities will take action looking toward the arrest and punishment of those who were prominent in the lynching of George White. That many or them are known cannot be doubted, for they were seen by the thousands who witnessed the affair. It is also known that the arrangements for the lynching were talked of in advance and that men were invited to participate and given notice of when and where to assemble. It was this fact that gave publicity to the lynching, for the news that it was to occur was circulated around Wilmington, with the result that the thousands who went out did so with the knowledge that the affair would come off according to arrangements.

It is a fact that public sentiment as generally approves the lynching that it would be hard to secure the conviction of a lyncher even if arrests are made, which seems doubtful.

Visit Scene of Lynching.
During the day thousands of persons went to the scene of the lynching, many of them intent upon securing ghastly relics. In this, however, they met with little success, as the burning had been so effectual as to destroy almost every vestige of the victim's body. The only remains were pieces of his bones.

In order to reach the scene many of these people walked three miles from Wilmington in the drizzling rain, and those who rode on the trolley cars had to walk a mile before they reached the spot. But nothing could abate their ardor, and all day there was a constant stream of people traveling along the road.

Judge Grubb of the county court made a public statement in which he deprecates the lynching of White and its consequent reflection upon the good name of Delaware. Judge Grubb also explained the action of the court in refusing to call a special session of the grand jury for the indictment of Miss Bishop's murderer. He says the trial would have been attended by such public clamor and prejudice that a fair trial would have been impossible and the court would have been compelled to grant the motion of the prisoners' counsel for a change of venue. Once the prisoner was moved to the insecure jail of Kent county or Sussex county he might have escaped.

Confessed Horrid Crime.
White's confession, made just before the torch was applied to the pile of soaked bushes around him, was an admission of everything and more than had been charged against him. He is stated to have said:

"I was sent by Mr. Woodward to the cornfield to try some corn. I saw Mr. Woodward's daughter and intended to assault her, but a couple of men came along in a wagon and I did not disturb her. Then I saw the Bishop girl, and I followed her. I seized her and asked her if she had any money she would give me to let her go. She gave me 6 cents. Then I again seized her, and she cried, 'Please don't hurt me.'"

"I choked her and accomplished my purpose. Then I asked her if she was going to tell on me. She said she was. I gave her a back in the throat with my knife and asked again if she was going to tell on me. She said she was, and then I cut her throat twice again and left her."

"After that I went back to Mr. Woodward and told him there was no good water to drink down there, and he sent me somewhere else. I went back once but soon left."

"Then I went back to the house and put on a white hat instead of the cap that I wore. You would not do this if I was a white man and did that."

Mob Rendered Furious.
The negro's confession rendered the already incensed crowd even more desperate, and some wanted to tear him limb from limb before they reached the scene of his execution. The negro begged piteously not to be burned, but no mercy was shown the culprit, and although his sufferings were terrible White remained conscious and rational to the last.

While at times during the night there were at least 5,000 people around the workhouse, the men who actually took part in the lynching did not number over 500. The leader was a man who said his name was Baker and that he was from Virginia.

His face was familiar to most of the people, and it was believed he was a resident of Wilmington, although some said he had been imported for the purpose of leading the mob.

One arrest was made last night, but the prisoner's name was not divulged by the police. It is said to be Arthur Carwell, who comes from Baltimore. It is said that state and city detectives were in the crowd and recognized some of those who participated in the burning. Other arrests, it is believed will follow.

During the show of resistance made by the police and the judicial officials when the mob attacked the New Castle county work house, Peter Smith, a 12 year old boy, was shot in the back. The bullet which struck him evidently came from a pistol in the crowd, as it is claimed by the prison warden that his gun fired over the heads of the lynchers. Smith is not expected to live.

Mrs. Bishop, mother of the murdered girl, is in a state of extreme nervousness. White was put to death within a few hundred yards of the Bishop house, and the glare of the fire and howls of the mob could be plainly seen and heard at the house.

Col. James McComb, a wealthy retired capitalist, of Claymont, near here came to the police authorities yesterday and told them he would go bail for all persons arrested in connection with the lynching. When he heard of tonight's arrest he again called at the police station and offered to go bail for the prisoner, but this the authorities would not allow.

Attorney-General Ward said last night that he expected more arrests and that there were 12 leaders in the mob.

UNDERTAKERS IN SESSION.

President's Address and a Practical Lecture by Prof. Eckles.

Montpelier, June 23.—The opening session of the third annual convention of the Vermont Undertakers' and Embalmers' association was held this morning in the Knights of Columbus hall with about 25 members of the association in attendance. This number was largely increased at the afternoon session.

At the afternoon session the reports of the secretary, treasurer and executive committee were read and accepted. J. Warren Roberts of Burlington gave a most interesting report of the last national convention which he attended as a delegate from the Vermont association.

Following this came the address of H. E. Pond, the president.

The last feature on the programme for the afternoon was, perhaps, the most interesting of all to members of the association and they only were present. Prof. H. S. Eckles of Philadelphia gave a lecture with illustrations by a sectional cadaver on the lines of guides to the arteries.

The election of officers today resulted as follows: President, C. W. Spencer of Rutland; vice presidents, M. J. Moran of Brattleboro and A. G. Hale of Bradford; secretary, Mrs. M. C. Brigham of Newport; treasurer, L. F. Cabot of Windsor.

HARVARD WINNER.

Took the Annual Commencement Game From Yale on Its Own Grounds.

New Haven, Conn., June 23.—Yale lost the annual commencement game to Harvard this afternoon by the score of 10 to 6. During the first six innings the rain fell heavily. The reunion classes were well represented and despite the rain, they marched and counter-marched before and during the game. In the covered stand 4,000 people were crowded. For six innings, Patton, Yale's sub pitcher, was in the box. In the fourth, Harvard landed on his curves hard and assisted by a close decision at first would have retired the side had O'Day called Matthews out. The crimson players were enabled to tally six times, putting the lead beyond the power of Yale to recover.

KING PETER
IN BELGRADEReturns to Serbia After Years of Exile.

GREETED WITH ACCLAIM

His Drive From Station to Palace One
Continuous Ovation—Will Take Oath Tomorrow.

Belgrade, June 24.—After years of exile Kara-Georgevitch is King of Serbia. King Peter arrived in Belgrade this morning and was greeted with all the acclaim of a mercurial populace as they came under the new ruler. His Majesty arrived at Semlin, on the Hungarian frontier at 10.30, and was met and welcomed by members of the cabinet, city authorities and highest officials of the provisional government, a guard of honor, presidents of various tribunals and most of the diplomatic representatives in Belgrade. The government officials started for this city amid a scene of enthusiasm. The streets of the city were filled with a crowd of over a hundred thousand. The King's drive from the station to the palace was one continuous ovation. All along the route the school children presented flowers to the new king. An immense torchlight procession is arranged for tonight. The King will take the oath of office tomorrow.

Noticeable features of the reception to the King at the palace was the absence of many diplomatic representatives. The Dutch, Turkish, English and French ministers left the city while the German and Italian representatives kept away from the ceremony.

BROWN-GARVEY.

Quiet Wedding of Well Known Barre People at Granville.

Miss Elizabeth A. Garvey, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Garvey of Granville, and P. The bride was attended by Miss Helen Brown, sister of the groom, and the groom was attended by Frank Brown, his cousin. The wedding was a very quiet one because of the poor health of the bride's father.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left on the 12.45 train on the Wells River road for a wedding trip through the White Mountains. On their return they will reside in Barre. The groom is a well known young man of Barre, and is a blacksmith in the employ of J. B. Reinhalter & Co. The bride was for a long time clerk in the store of Homer Fitts and has hosts of friends, who all extend best wishes to the newly wedded couple.

Four new trustees were appointed who were Edward Wells of Lyndonville, C. A. Chapman of Ferrisburgh, H. Austin Tuttle of Brooklyn and William R. Ransom of Tufts college.

The most important thing done at the meeting was the voting to have the building wired for electric lights this summer. This will make a much needed improvement and it will be noted with much pleasure by the scholars and friends of the school.

At a meeting of the trustees this morning Arthur Martin was elected a new trustee and Rev. J. Harry Holden was reelected to the same office.

A. G. Fay was elected treasurer to succeed Homer Fitts who resigned because his health would not permit him to give the time necessary to the duties of the office.

INTERESTING EXERCISES.

Concluding Events of Commencement
For This Year—Prize Speaking
Last Evening.

The graduating exercises of the class of 1903, Goddard Seminary, was held at 10 o'clock this morning in the school chapel. Despite the rainy weather there was the largest attendance of the week, many coming today from the surrounding towns.

The exercises were opened by a nicely rendered selection by the Goddard orchestra, which gave several selections during the program.

The salutatorian of the class was Miss Bessie Thwing, the subject of her essay being "The Short Story," which was nicely written and contained many beautiful thoughts.

Municipal Tendencies was the subject of the oration by Arthur Eugene Brown of North Williston, which he delivered in an excellent manner. He told the story of the great Tannum hall in New York and the catastrophe in Minneapolis caused by Mayor Ames. "Municipal affairs," he said, "can only be managed by honest integrity."

Essay, "The Associations of the Hudson," was read by Bessie Dora Buell, So. Stratford. She told of the many romances which are connected with the Hudson River since its discovery by Henry Hudson all nicely woven together making a most interesting essay.

Perley Buchanan delivered a well written oration on the much discussed subject of "International Arbitration." He spoke of the many bloody and costly wars which nations have fought in settling national and international affairs. "War has proved to be not only the most barbarous but the most expensive way of settling international difficulties and the time is near when trouble between nations will be settled entirely by arbitration."

THE ANNUAL PRIZE

SPEAKING CONTEST

Miss Sturtevant Winner of First Prize,
Miss Blake Second and Mark
Carpenter Third.

The annual prize speaking of Goddard Seminary was held last evening in the Barre opera house. The attendance was large, and the speaking, to say the least, was the best that has been given by students of the Seminary for several years.

The result of the awarding of prizes was as follows: First prize to Miss Helen Ruth Sturtevant, Hartland; second prize to Miss Elsie G. Blake, East Cabot, and third prize to Mark C. Carpenter, Washington.

The judges were George Chase, '00, Bethel, Irvin Potter, '00, and Dr. F. M. Lynde, '01.

The programme began by a piano solo by Miss Bertha Tierney followed by prayer by Rev. Stanley G. Spear of Malden, Mass.

Senator Beveridge's thrilling speech, "The Republic Never Surrenders," was the first piece and it was given by Harold B. Swasey, Barre. Mr. Swasey, '03, has a strong clear voice and his delivery was very forceful and intelligent.
